LOST HER MONEY.

A Lady From Green Ridge Loses Quite a Little Sum at the Depot.

Mrs. Guenther, of Green Ridge, came in this morning to do some shopping and before coming up into the city stepped into the ladies' waiting room at the depot. In a small hand bag was $24.50 in money. She placed the bag on a seat beside her and when she started up town went away without taking the bag with her. The money was not missed until she had walked several blocks. When she returned to the waiting room in search of the missing bag it was gone.

A diligent search was made, but no trace could be found. It was supposed to have been taken by two Italian women peddlers who were present when the money was placed upon the seat.

A CONFESSION.

The Denison Murder Mysteries Cleared Up by a Confession From Texas Jack.

The publication at Denison, of the letter reported to have been written by Bill Leroy, alias Dick Edwards, alias Texas Jack, created a sensation when it was made public.

Leroy is the man who is now in the hands of Grayson county officials at West Superior, Wis., under charge of murder and for whom the officers are awaiting requisition papers, so as to return to Texas with the man. Below is the letter:

EDDY, N. M., May 23, 1892.

I have seen a great deal in the papers about the Denison murders. Will tell something about them. At one time I had plenty of money, but I got to fooling around with women and blew it in.

I had to shoot Mrs. Haynes because she caught me robbing her house. I shot her to keep her from telling on me and she came near taking my gun away from me. I am sorry I did it.

Then I went and shot those two damned — (meaning the two frail women). I don't know why I did it. I then went to Hawley's. I had met Teen Hawley and had fallen in love with her. No one knew it, and that was what she was telling to her mother after she was shot.

"Teen ran into her mother's room and when she came back I shot her. By the time you get this I will be gone again."

This was an anonymous letter, but those who are in a position to know state positively that it was written by Leroy, besides other circumstances bear out the claim.

A Silver Jubilee.

Rev. Fathers Graham and Dickman left on the noon train for Jefferson City to be present to-morrow at the silver jubilee of Rev. Father Hoog, of that city. The event will be a brilliant and joyous one and the good father will be the recipient of many happy remembrances. The services will be held at the church to-morrow, followed by a banquet at night. On the train were Bishop Hennessey, and Rev. Father Lillis of St. Patrick's church, Kansas City.

There are 9,496 school children in the county.

Will Probated.

The will of Wm. J. Winchell, deceased, was admitted to probate in the office of Probate Judge Hoy today and Sam G. Kelly named as executor, to whom letters testamentary have been issued.

Of Interest to Early Letterers.

Notification has been received by County Treasurer J. S. Hughes from an examiner and awarder of government claims in the department of the interior of sums of money for Morris D. Hogan, John N. Ousley and George M. Pemberton, of Pettis, allowed them for losses sustained by Indian depredations in the early days of the county.

These gentlemen or their heirs will find something of interest by calling upon the county treasurer.

TWYMAN-GREEN.

A Young Dry Goods Man Weds a Fair Sedalia Young Lady.

At 7:30 o'clock this evening, Mr. S. J. Twyman, with the dry goods house of Hail & Whitmore, will lead to the altar Miss Bessie Bertha Green. Both are well known in the city and have an extensive circle of friends who wish for them all the joys of life.

Mr. Twyman is from Warrensburg and during his stay in the city has proven himself to be a young man of good business abilities and most exemplary habits.

The bride, Miss Green, is one of the handsomest and most lovable young ladies in the city.

The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Green, No. 316 West Seventh street, and will be performed by Rev. J. Ross Stevenson, of the Broadway Presbyterian church. The young couple will spend Christmas at the home of the groom's parents in Warrensburg and will commence housekeeping in Sedalia about January 1st.

The Dogs Got Him.

Constable Jim Gossage has been consuming more wood at his house during the past few weeks than a dozen ordinary families usually manages to burn. Wood bills grew to be a nightmare to him, until finally he determined to solve the mystery. Securing two ferocious bull pups, he planted them near the wood pile to devour any adventurous and covetous cuss that might happen to linger too long in that vicinity.

About 2 o'clock this morning there was a terrific uproar of growls, ripping pants and smothered exclamations of terror from the vicinity of the woodshed. The women folks were badly scared and of the opinion that the man had already been eaten.

An investigation showed a man in battle array, with little or no clothing upon him and almost paralyzed with cold and fright. Jim recognized him at once, in fact he has arrested this same individual a thousand times, more or less, during past years. It used to be a standing joke that John Henry, whenever he got drunk, strolled around in Jim's vicinity simply to have the big policeman pull him in his smooth, artistic, professional way.

Notwithstanding the early morning hour, John claimed to have been making "nothing but a friendly call." It is more than probable that he will take his meals standing for awhile.

CITY COUNCIL.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHTS WILL BE LOOKED AFTER.

A Number of Remonstrances Received and New Sidewalks and Crossings Ordered Built.

The city council met in regular session last night with Mayor E. W. Stevens in the chair.

Councilmen present: Bosserman, Dugan, Dean, Deckman, Honkomp, Hutchinson, McKenzie and Wigton.

Thirty-two property owners on West Fifth street petitioned that the street be paved with Improved Telford from Ohio street to Grand avenue. The petition was placed on file and resolutions for the paving of West Fifth street were unanimously adopted.

Jackson & Montgomery, the attorneys, asked that the farm lands of J. R. Barrett in the west part of the city be exempted from city taxation; communication placed on file.

H. Rohwer, assistant civil engineer on the Missouri Pacific, sent in an interesting communication pointing out the value of establishing permanent street grades throughout the city and also of more perfectly developing the sewerage system.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance at the request of property owners, which will demand the removal of all wooden or defective sidewalks on the north side of Broadway, from Ohio to the M., K. & T., and the construction of same of brick, concrete or stone.

In reply to a petition, the city attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance providing for the construction of a sidewalk on the west of Ohio from Jefferson to Pacific streets, and also for a crossing at Ohio and Jefferson.

Seventh street property owners entered an emphatic protest against the imperfect manner in which they claim the street has been curbed. A remonstrance from West Seventh street declared that the rules and specifications had not been observed in the work and asked that the city council refuse to accept the same. Other Seventh street property owners also sent in a similar petition. On motion of Mr. Bosserman, the complaints were placed on file. On motion of Mr. Dean, the street and alley committee was instructed to telegraph to Mr. Gilfillan, the contractor, at Independence, Mo., asking him to attend a meeting of Seventh street property owners at which overtures would be made for a compromise in the price to be paid.

A remonstrance against the paving of East Third street was read and referred to the street and alley committee. On motion of Mr. Honkomp the property owners on East Third street were given until Jan. 15 to decide as to the kind of material they desired to have that street paved with.

The following bids for paving the alley between Fifth and Sixth streets and Ohio and Lamine streets were received: Wm. Holt offered to do the work for $2.75 per square yard; Simpson and Meyer, $1.10 per square yard. On motion of Mr. Dugan the last named bidders were awarded the contract.

A bill of $25 for the surgical attention rendered William Scott, the negro shot last Saturday morning, was sent in by Drs. Dresel and Dunlap. Mr. Honkomp thought the bill reasonable and moved that it be allowed, but receiving no second, on motion of Mr. Hutchinson, it was referred to the committee on claims.

An ordinance was read three times and passed, providing that two or more boarders shall constitute a boarding house subject to license tax.

Tax bills were ordered issued and turned over to the First National bank upon the report of City Engineer Zoll that he had found the

DEAD GEORGE FERREL.

He Talks of the Obituaries of Himself He Has Read.

"I'm dead again," remarked genial Geo. Ferrell, the pungent paragrapher of Central Missouri, as he greeted a Rochepout Commercial scribe down at Columbia, last Saturday. "I've read my obituary more often than any other man in the state. Only last week the St. Louis Chronicle had me committing suicide by jumping from the St. Louis bridge, and concluded my obituary by picturing me walking the golden streets of Heaven and writing free puffs for those who have gone before. This is the only time that I was sorry that I wasn't dead, and it has weighed so heavily upon my mind that I dreamed the other night that I was really dead. While in dreamland, I visited heaven; Abraham recognized me and gave me a golden harp upon which to play. I touched the strings which responded in a melody unknown to earth and which filled my whole soul with unbounded delight. Listening with an enchanted ear at these rich celestial chords, until the whole heavens seemed to join in the chorus, an angel most beautiful to behold, with a Cleopatra form, and a face like Venus, came to me and placing her snow-white arms around my neck, said, 'George, I stated that certain sidewalks on Second, Main and Cooper streets, in front of property belonging to the Smith & Cotton estate, were in unsound and dangerous conditions. All the property owners except the parties referred to had built new ones or repaired the old ones. On motion the alley committee was instructed to advertise for bids for walks to be built on Second street and repairs to be made on the other streets mentioned.

On motion of Mr. Dean, the street commissioner was instructed to put in a crossing at Fifth and Harrison streets and to repair crossing at Fifth and Hancock.

Mr. Honkomp brought up the question of defective street lighting and spoke of the poor service that was being given. Mayor Stevens was emphatic in impressing upon the council the necessity of doing something in the matter and seeing that the contractor complied with the specifications of the contract. On motion of Mr. McKenzie a special committee was appointed to take up the matter with Judge Metsker and have a remedy applied. The committee appointed by the mayor is Messrs. Bosserman, Honkomp, Dugan and Deckman.

On motion of Mr. Dean, Mr. Hauptly was instructed to trim the trees in the city cemetery.

On motion, the council adjourned to one week from next Wednesday night.

on behalf of the celestial beauties, have come to welcome you to the land of paradise. Come, dwell with us; you shall be king in our mansion and we will pay homage to thee.' This queenly beauty bade me follow her, and I did so. She led me nearer and nearer to the brink of a great precipice from which great clouds of smoke and fire flame ascended. From this pit issued the most lamentable sounds of woe; I could hear the fire billows which lashed around the prison of the damned. We marched to the brink of this awful chasm, when I was commanded to look down upon the frightful mass of roasting humanity. I was amazed at recognizing the upturned faces of so many of those candidates of woe. Among those rolling and tossing upon the sulphur billow of this seething lake, I beheld J. West Goodwin, Ed. Burrowes, Ed. Redmon, Sam Ravenel, Bill Pendleton, John Cosgrove, Bob Withers, Wix, and a score of others. When they recognized me, such an appealing wail went up for one drop of water to cool their parching lips, that I was forced to turn aside and weep. I was compelled to deny them even this request from the fact that they had denied me favors in the other world. My fair companion bade me follow on, and I did so, until we had entered a mansion, the beauty of which mortal tongue could not describe. At

THE DEMOCRAT,
Sedalia, Mo.

Office: 307 Ohio St. Telephone 232.

Official Paper of the City of Sedalia.

THE PEOPLE ALL READ

The DAILY DEMOCRAT.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Patrons of the EVENING DEMOCRAT will confer a favor upon the management by promptly reporting any irregularity in delivery or bad condition of paper from improper handling.

An extra session of congress in September is much better than no extra session at all.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR O'MEARA will search in vain for a better chairman of the judiciary committee than Charley Yeater. He is an able lawyer, a sound democrat and an honest man.

The people of this country thoroughly understand that the fact that the government needs revenue is no bar to the repeal of protective tariff taxes. A revenue tariff is the only tariff tax that is just.

A SYNDICATE of Wall Street capitalists have just purchased the republic of San Domingo. A similar syndicate of manufacturing barons tried to buy this republic on the 8th of November, but failed.

It is pretty plain now that if the United States wants to prevent free coinage of silver an "international monetary conference," with England as master of ceremonies, is the way to do it. But can the people who really want free silver be deceived by such tricks and shams?

The democrats of Springfield have set an example that should be followed by their brethren all over the state. They have organized a permanent democratic club and will go right along with their missionary work until Greene county is redeemed and put in accord with the state politically.

No good American citizen wants theology or sectarianism taught in the public schools. In this country all churches should have equal rights and privileges and equal protection. If a parent wants his child taught any particular creed or form of religion, there are private sectarian schools that furnish such instruction.

A Polk county mob hanged a man until he was unconscious to make him confess complicity in horse stealing that has been going on for some time. He was finally turned over to the sheriff who had him in charge when the mob took him. It will probably never be known whether the fellow was innocent or obstinate.

YOUNG PIERRE LORILLARD, son of the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, was whipped around his aristocratic legs with a vulgar horsewhip by a vulgar cabman whom he sought to "move out of the way," in New York city the other day, and when the vulgar cabman was arraigned before a vulgar justice of the peace that vulgar official discharged him and told him he had done right. What are wages coming to in this beastly country, anyhow.

There is a great deal of sound sense in the following from the Kansas City Star: "Some trepidation is felt by the people residing on the great lakes because England has put war ships in neutral waters disguised as "revenue cutters." The trepidation is, however, unnecessary. At present there is no need of war ships and England can have the fun of keeping them until a necessity for their use is found. Then America will be equal to the emergency. The Yankee is always equal to any emergency, and if necessary, he will sink the "revenue cutters" if he has to pump out Lake Superior to do it." We licked 'em once; we can do it again."

WANTS THEM ABOLISHED.

The Rochport Commercial is one of those papers which, when it says a thing, says it so plainly and so emphatically that there is no mistaking what it means.

The Commercial thinks there are some purely ornamental departments at Jefferson City connected with the state administration, and it goes after them with blood in its eyes and wool on its teeth.

Here is what it says: "If the coming legislature, which will convene on the first Wednesday in January next, would forever commend its work to the tax-payers of the state, it will cut down some of the useless and ornamental appropriations heretofore made by like bodies. We refer especially to the so-called departments of labor and geology. Neither can show any fruits at all commensurate with the amount of money they have wasted, and as they are soft nests for radical employees, they ought to be wiped out."

Isn't it cruel, not to say cowardly, this thing of taking Jay Gould for a text in the press and pulpit, and denouncing him as a thief and a scoundrel? There were plenty of occasions for these denunciations while he lived, and while they might have done some good. He was no worse in his methods than hundreds of other speculators and stock manipulators who builded their own fortunes by tearing down others. He was abler than they, but not worse in method or intention. He was no hypocrite, whatever may be said of him, and he did not try to buy the reputation of philanthropist with the wealth he had won from others; he never paraded his charity nor asked any church to soil its reputation by extolling his virtues in consideration of so many million dollars. The gentlemen of the press and the pulpit would do more good by turning their batteries upon the living Goulds and let the dead rest quietly in his grave. His soul has gone to be judged at a tribunal where neither pulpit nor press can affect the verdict.

The Moberly Democrat thus endorses the suggestion of this paper that fines as punishment for crime be abolished: "The Sedalia DEMOCRAT advocates the abolishment of the system of paying fines. The subject has a moral as well as a legal phase. The right to tax crime is questioned while its success as a crime preventer is also a matter of doubt. It is true that men of means do commit crimes they would not if they had no money to pay out; probably the majority would "take chances" and risk it occasionally anyway, but it can certainly be shown that there are better methods of punishment for certain classes of crime than any now in vogue in Missouri."

THE DEMOCRAT desires to record an emphatic endorsement of the following sensible paragraph from the Brunswicker: "Petitions are being circulated over the state asking congress to undertake the improvement of country roads. It is a useless petition and should not be signed. Such movements can only serve to embarrass your representatives in congress. Long years ago congress abandoned the making of wagon roads, canals, railroads and such other internal improvements. These things must and will be done under state laws, and the democratic congressman that votes to enlarge the control of the general government over them will hereafter find himself left at home, just where he belongs."

THE DEMOCRAT is still of the opinion that Pettis county will raise her quota of the subsidy asked for by the north and south railroad. Whenever a definite proposition is made and it is necessary to raise the fund or lose the road, the money will be forthcoming in short order. There are many men who are willing to subscribe who have not done so because they want to know who is going to build and operate the road, and what are the prospects of its being an independent line that will eventually be extended from the Lakes to the Gulf. In the opinion of the DEMOCRAT, any railroad from here to Springfield is worth the amount asked of the citizens, but still the fact remains that people are somewhat cautious about putting money in an enterprise unless they know who is going to manage and control it.

MR. CLEVELAND has received a great many visits from "statesmen" who were anxious to tell him just what course to pursue during his term as president. It is characteristic of the man however, that when he really wanted to confer with some one he sent for Senator Vilas and Gen. Dickenson and took them to his house for a conference.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Spider and the Fly.

The next attraction at the opera house is M. B. Leavitt's famous spectacular pantomime burlesque entertainment "The Spider and the Fly." Christmas eve, Saturday, December 24th. The performance has been greatly and beautifully improved since last season until it is now one of the finest and most enjoyable entertainments before the public. In the cast are the following people: Mlle. Louie Cassati, Miss Georgie Putnam, Miss Bertie Crawford, Miss Hilda La Porte and Miss Rose La Porte. Their costuming is said to be artistic and elegant. This attraction is one of the very best spectacular productions on the road this season.

Dr. Laws Removes to Cincinnati.

Dr. S. S. Laws, ex-president of the Missouri State university and for several years a resident of this city, has left Kansas City to go to Cincinnati to live. Dr. Laws is engaged upon an undertaking of which even his most intimate friends know nothing. It is conjectured, however, that this work is either the production of a book or the invention of something in the application of electrical science. Dr. Laws is the inventor of the ticker used in handling telegraphic quotations, and from this invention he realizes a handsome income.—Kansas City Star.

A Classical Play in Sedalia.

On Tuesday evening, January 10th, 1893, the Women's Guild of the Calvary Episcopal church will delightfully entertain the public with the famous and classical play of "Pandora." The ladies and gentlemen who will compose the cast will be of Sedalia's best talent and the play will be costumed elaborately.

A Clean Show.

The Fuller & Henderson refined minstrels returned from Windsor this morning where they played to a crowded house last night. The boys did well in Sedalia also and will now make the towns on the east end of the Pacific. The performance is commendable in the particular that nothing objectionable is to be found, allowing ladies to attend without any fear of being embarrassed.

FIXING UP A ROOM.

Jefferson City Ideas of the Necessaries of Life.

It is singular what widely different ideas are prevalent in different places as to what are really the comforts and conveniences of life.

A few days ago a member-elect of the general assembly wrote to a friend in Jefferson City requesting that a room be engaged for him for the session, and that it be fixed up with all the conveniences for work, as he expected to labor diligently during the winter.

Judge of his surprise when he received the following reply from his friend, who had doubtless imagined that the room was to be fitted up in regular Jefferson City style:

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 16.—DEAR —: Your letter of the 16th just received. I will see Miller to-night and have him fix up your little room as you describe. Have you any choice as to the style of side-board? Suppose one with drawers for lemons, sugar, spoons, etc., with room on top for about three jugs and a few bottles, will do. You are right about moving the rocking chairs out of the little room into your family room. I will see that this is done. About the table you mention, will ten feet in circumference be sufficient? and would you rather have one covered with green or purple? Miller has them with hole in the center or hole in the side, which do you think would suit you best? You can select chips when you come.

I know very little about fixing up a room for a "high roller," but will give Miller carte blanc on expense, and orders to have your little room "la capital removal," with a colored violet de chambre at the door.

Your friend,

CHRISTMAS GIVING.

It Should be Solely With the View of Making Others Happy.

In one of the last articles he ever wrote, the late George William Curtis protested, mildly but firmly, against the mercenary spirit which had, he thought, crept into our celebration of Christmas, says the Detroit Free Press. The payment of obligations with gifts was what he especially objected to, and next to that he objected to the giving in hope or expectation of return.

There is a great deal of force in this view. It is belittling the Christmas time and the custom which has become its distinguishing characteristic to make the giving a mercenary business—a mere matter of trade and exchange. There is nothing of the Christmas spirit in the purchase of a gift because one is indebted for like consideration in the past, or expects it in the future. That is a low and sordid view of what Christmas means; and if it were indeed true that our observance of the time has so far degenerated, it were better to abandon the celebration altogether as worse than a waste of time and money.

We cannot believe, however, that the observance has so degenerated. There are those, no doubt, who calculate coldly in the matter of buying Christmas gifts, measuring the outlay carefully in each case by the receipts of the past or the expectations of the future. But this is not the real Christmas giving. It bears no more relation to the latter than an electric light does to the glorious sun. Nobody can visit the stores at this period and watch the eager, happy faces without the conviction that the real giving, born of a loving wish to do good or confer pleasure, is still enormously in the ascendant. One sees, here and there, the serious calculator, weighing the possibility of "keeping even" with past or future givers; but their seriousness "kicks the beam" when weighed in the balance against the joy or the kindly anxiety which irradiates the countenances of those whose chief thought is to remember to the best of their ability all those who have a claim, not on their pockets, but on their love and tenderness. They may not buy with any better judgment than the others. Probably their judgment is very often at fault and the short person gets the long gift. But there is very little danger that the gift into which so much of loving thought is put will fail to confer happiness even though it may not weigh quite as much as it should in comparison with what the recipient gave last year or intends to give this.

The man or woman who looks with coldly calculating eyes on the gift bestowed or received at the Christmas time is a churl, and we are glad to believe, in spite of the genial and usually accurate Easy Chair—from whom, alas! we shall hear no more—that the majority are not churls.

One of the Pleasures of Life

Is delightful surroundings, and nothing surrounds you so much or so constantly as your home. Hardly anybody would hesitate in a choice between Greenland and a tropical garden, and yet some homes are as cheerless as the land of the iceberg, when they might just as easily be as pleasant as the region of perennial flowers and sunshine. Now that Xmas is near, why don't you make your home bright, attractive, picturesque and joyous with a tasteful and elegant outfit from our magnificent assortment of novelties in furniture? We can touch up every room in your house with a glow of morning light and although our adornment is not so cheap as light, you could not very well ask much lower prices than we offer.

THE LATEST ST. LOUIS SENSATION.

Ed. Foerstel, Assistant City Treasurer, Attempts to Destroy the Records of the Office to Hide His Shortage—Falling in This He Takes His Own Life—Heavy Defalcation in Accounts.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 20.—Deposed, a shortage in his accounts of $63,020.16, his son dead, a suicide, with absolute ruin staring him in the face, Michael J. Foerstel, until last night city treasurer of St. Louis, is one of the most miserable of men.

An investigation of his affairs, precipitated by the events to be related, resulted in the discovery of the shortage given, the immediate removal of the treasurer by acting Mayor C. W. Walbridge, and the appointment, as temporary successor, of Charles Parsons, the best known banker of the city, who immediately gave the required bond of $500,000 and assumed the position.

Edward Foerstel, first assistant, and son of Michael J. Foerstel, city treasurer, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning shot himself in the right temple causing a fatal wound.

For weeks past stories of peculiar doings in the treasurer's office have been afloat. There have been suits brought against the treasurer by money lenders, notorious for their usurious charges, assertions regarding real estate deals of the treasurer and his son, and allegations of using of city money by some one who recouped the treasury previous to the regular examinations by borrowing from shysters, who at last sued the treasurer himself on notes which he declares to be forgeries.

Amid all the wild deductions drawn from the dying rumors which could not in any way be safely verified, there came about five minutes after 6 o'clock the announcement that fire had been kindled shortly before in the city treasurer's office, where, with the doors of the vaults wide open, a too apparent attempt had been made to destroy everything in that office, and so forever conceal the guilt of any one who should be guilty of wrong doing. Scarcely two hours later came the news of Ed Foerstel's suicide, and then the situation seemed to clear itself.

When Treasurer Foerstel reached the office and discovered the situation, almost his first words were, "When Eddie comes down we will count the cash, although I don't think there was much there."

A few minutes later the bookkeepers arrived and it was learned that there should be a little over $11,000 in the safe. "I've sent for Eddie," said the treasurer, "and think he'll be here in a minute." At this time the rumor of Eddie's attempted suicide was current all over the four courts and the city hall. When informed that his son had committed suicide the treasurer completely broke down and was beside himself with grief.

An investigation was immediately begun. Of the cash on hand the young suicide was the custodian. Young Foerstel's record is that of a wild young man and plunger. On horses he was a heavy bettor, placing $1,000 here and a minute. At this time the rumor of Eddie's attempted suicide was current all over the four courts and the city hall. ## DEATH STILL HOVERS NEAR.

Physicians Hold Out No Hope for Mr. Blaine's Recovery.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Ex-Secretary Blaine was better last evening and although the doctors do not hold out the hope of permanent recovery the family feel that the crisis has been passed and that perhaps the husband and father may be spared for some time. It is stated that he sat up for a short time yesterday morning and talked with the members of the family in a very cheerful frame of mind.

A friend of the family stated last night that Mr. Blaine was liable to a recurrent attack of heart failure at any moment and that the family had been warned to prepare for the worst. "When," said the gentleman, "the physicians state that Mr. Blaine is better, they simply mean that he is alive and that is about the true statement of his condition. Cordials of a stimulative nature and other liquid nourishment are given him at frequent intervals and these alone keep him alive. He lies helpless on his bed and can not change his posture without the aid of his attendants. Mr. Blaine may not live twelve hours, and he may survive three or four days, but I doubt it."

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 20.—Hon. J. H. Manley received the following dispatch yesterday relative to Mr. Blaine: WASHINGTON, Dec. 19, 1892.—A marked improvement, but do not think it will be lasting. We hope for the best. HARRIS S. BLAINE.

RAILROAD STATUTES

REPORT OF THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

SEVERAL RECOMMENDATIONS MADE.

Railway Officials Concede the Necessity of Government Regulation and Favor Additional Enactments. Justice Brewer's Decision Declared to Be at Variance With all Precedents—Pooling.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The report of the interstate commerce commission for the year ended November 30, was yesterday transmitted to congress. It opens with a review of the reasons which induced the passage of the act to regulate commerce and which are given in view of the result rendered in administering the act and necessity for amendments which experience has disclosed. It states that the commission is gratified at being able to say that many railroad managers of the highest standing now concede the necessity of government regulation and avow themselves in favor of further enactments that will make the regulation effective.

The late decision of Justice Brewer in the circuit court of appeals, deciding a long and short haul case is discussed and the dictum of opinion, that the total joint rate of two roads is over an independent line from the lines formed by either road and not to be considered in determining the local rate of either road and therefore may be even less than the intermediate or local rate, is shown to be without foundation either in the debates in congress, the practice of carriers since the law was passed, or the rulings of the commission, which, nevertheless are cited in that opinion as supporting a new theory. To protect all intermediate localities and interests from the disastrous effects of this judicial interpretation congress is earnestly urged to take such immediate action as will give legislative construction to the word "line" in the statute.

Several amendments recommended by the commission for the purpose of strengthening the law are discussed. Regarding the proposed amendment by which pooling is to be permitted; the report says: "The attempt to secure the public from discrimination, extortion, favoritism, undue preference and undue prejudice, and to secure to every citizen just and equitable rates and equal and equitable in all transportation matters, is the very essence, spirit and purpose of the law and it would be vain to protect carriers from competitive attacks upon each other if the general public can not be protected from the greater evils above enumerated. If the law is to be amended the two classes of amendments should go hand in hand until the law is made strong, as its framers intended in the matter of fair and equitable rates, fair treatment and suppression of favoritism. It is idle to seek to protect carriers whose immunity, under authoritative constructions of the law from restrictions intended by congress, seems one of the remarkable facts in current history."

SENATOR GIBSON EULOGISED.

The Life and Work of the Dead Solon Feelingly Referred to.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The attendance of senators yesterday morning was very small, not more than forty being in the chamber when the opening prayer was offered by Chaplain Butler. The desk and chair recently occupied by Mr. Gibson of Louisiana were draped in black and his death last Thursday as well as the alarming illness of Mr. Blaine was feelingly referred to in the chaplain's prayer. As soon as Thursday's journal was read, Mr. Gorman of Maryland arose and announced the death of Senator Gibson in these words:

"At the request of the senator from Louisiana, Mr. White, who is now engaged in rendering affectionate service to his colleague, it is made my business to-day to announce to the senate the death of the Hon. Randall L. Gibson, the senior senator from the state of Louisiana. After a lingering illness he expired peacefully at Hot Springs, Ark., on Thursday last. I cannot make this announcement without expressing something of the sorrow which this intelligence has brought to the senate." Mr. Gibson paid a high tribute to his personal worth and closed by offering the usual resolutions expressive of the senate's profound sorrow at the death of Mr. Gibson, and the senate, as a further mark of respect, adjourned.

In the house it was manifest that the Christmas holidays were rapidly approaching. The unoccupied seats far outnumbered those that were occupied, but in the cloak room there were little groups of men chatting, smoking and relating stories. It being suspension day there came up from last session the bill for the relief of William L. Winan of Baltimore, the inventor of the spindle shaped ship. There was quite an opposition manifested. The fight ended between Winan and the inveterate of the wheelbarrow vessels, and the latter was successful. The bill required a two-third vote to secure its passage, and the vote stood, ayes 27, nays 75, so the motion to pass the bill was lost.

Mr. Wilson, Democrat of Missouri called upon the senate bill increasing the pension of pensioners of the Mexican war from $8 to $12 a month. The bill was passed.

AN ELEPHANT ON A SPREE.

Sultan Escapes From a Circus and Proceeds to Tear Things Up.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 20.—The farmers of Montgomery county have been exceedingly uneasy for several days over the fact that an elephant was at large in that locality. A few nights ago he was discovered in the barn yard of William Fordyce, near Crawfordsville. The next morning the place was found to have been wrecked, fences broken, corn cribs gutted, and everything in a devastated condition. During the night the elephant left the place, taking several panels of wire fence with him. He was traced to a swamp near by but no one cared to disturb him. That night he returned to Fordyce's place and slept in a straw stack. The presence of the elephant alarmed the neighbors and watchers were detailed to keep track of the animal in order to alarm the farmers should he attack any farm houses.

Saturday night Manager Gray of the Great American circus, with two men arrived here from Jeffersonville, and with many town people went out to Fordyce's, where Keeper Newman recognized the elephant as Sultan, one of the largest and fiercest of his herd. The gang of showmen attacked him with pitchforks and prods and finally forced him into the barn. The building was nearly wrecked and the elephant's howls could be heard a distance of four miles. He was finally captured. Sultan escaped from the circus last Tuesday at Waynestown.
